A Handbook of Greek Archaeology

BY

HAROLD N. FOWLER, PH.D.

Professor of Greek, Western Reserve University

AND

JAMES R. WHEELER, PH.D.

Professor of Greek Archaeology and Art, Columbia University

$2.00

THIS Handbook is intended primarily for the use of students beginning the study of Greek Archaeology. In the subjects of Greek sculpture and coins it has not been difficult for the English reader to get at the salient archaeological facts, but in other departments there are almost no elementary works which cover the ground adequately. The book thus meets a distinct need.

An introductory chapter gives a brief survey of the history of Greek archaeology in order that the reader may appreciate the steps by which our present stage of knowledge has been reached. The succeeding chapters treat of Prehellenic Greece, sculpture, architecture, vases, paintings, terra cottas, metal work, and coins; accompanied by a complete index. The chapter on architecture contains numerous observations on technical points of stone construction, which have not elsewhere been published so conveniently and clearly.

The illustrations present clearly the typical features of the art of different epochs. In their selection the authors have gone as much as possible to the museums of this country, and a number of objects are here reproduced for the first time.

EUGENE P. ANDREWS, Instructor in Archaeology and Curator of the Museum of Casts, Cornell University: "If ever a textbook was needed, we needed a book on Greek Archaeology to put into the hands of American college students. If ever two Americans were qualified to write such a book, Fowler and Wheeler are the men. We all owe them a big debt of gratitude.

"Of course I have put it into my classes. I have waited for it too long to wait for the beginning of a new year. I have been waiting to see how it worked in the hands of my students before I wrote you, for that is really the test of a book which professes to be a textbook. I find it amazingly complete and up-to-date. The mass that they have sifted through is, as you know, enormous. As I use the book I realize more and more that they have done their difficult work well. You need have no anxiety about the reception the book will meet with in other institutions. It stands unique before the American lovers of things Greek in what it undertakes, and it was sadly needed."

WILHELM DÖRPFELD, Kaiserlich Deutsches Archäologisches Institut, Athen: "Ich finde das Buch ganz vorzüglich. Das ganze Gebiet der Kunst-Archäologie ist kurz und treffend behandelt. Die zahlreichen Illustrationen sind trotz der grossen Verkleinerung sehr gut und höchst lehrreich. Ich werde das Buch gerne überall empfehlen."

ALLAN MARQUAND, Professor of Art and Archaeology, and Director of the Museum of Historical Art, Princeton University: "Fowler and Wheeler's Handbook of Greek Archaeology seems to me admirably composed and full of information — quite the best of its kind. It deserves to have a great success."

ARTHUR FAIRBANKS, Director of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston: "Although Fowler and Wheeler's Greek Archaeology is called a handbook, it seems to me a notable contribution to the available literature on the subject."

SCHOOL OF AMERICAN ARCHAEOLOGY

THE SCHOOL OF AMERICAN ARCHAEOLOGY was founded by the Archaeological Institute of America in 1907, to conduct the researches of the Institute in the American field, direct the expeditions of the branch Societies, and afford opportunities for field work and training to students of archaeology and ethnology. Expeditions for the excavation of ancient American ruins are sent out from time to time. Students of archaeology and ethnology will be admitted to expeditions on satisfying the Director as to qualifications for the work proposed. Terms of admission will be furnished on application.

The Central American Fellowship with a stipend of $600 is awarded annually. Other Fellowships are to be established as soon as funds are secured for their maintenance. The School coöperates in research with the Bureau of American Ethnology and with universities and scientific organizations, both home and foreign. Correspondence is invited with reference to such collaboration in either field or archive work in American subjects.

For further information, address the Director,

EDGAR L. HEWETT,

Santa Fe,

New Mexico.

AMERICAN SCHOOL AT ATHENS

THE AMERICAN SCHOOL OF CLASSICAL STUDIES AT ATHENS was founded by the Archaeological Institute of America in 1881, and is in great measure supported by the coöperation of leading American Universities and Colleges. No charge for tuition is made to graduates of the supporting institutions; other students are required to pay a fee of $25 per annum for tuition and library privileges. Two Fellowships, with a stipend of $600 each, are awarded on examination; the examinations in 1912 (for the Fellowships of 1912-1913) will be held on March 14-16. A Fellowship in Architecture also will be maintained for the next two years by the Carnegie Institution of Washington. The library of the School contains more than 4000 carefully selected volumes.

The Director of the School is Mr. B. H. HILL. In 1911-1912 the annual professorship is held by Professor CHARLES BURTON GULICK, of Harvard University. He will be succeeded in 1912-1913 by Professor CLARENCE P. BILL, of Western Reserve University.

For further information, address the Chairman of the Managing Committee,

Professor JAMES R. WHEELER,
Columbia University, New York, N.Y.

AMERICAN SCHOOL IN ROME

THE AMERICAN SCHOOL OF CLASSICAL STUDIES IN ROME (Via Vicenza, 5) was founded in 1895 by the Archaeological Institute of America, and is affiliated with it and with the American School at Athens. It offers to graduates in Arts of American Colleges, and, under exceptional circumstances, to other persons of marked qualifications, instruction and assistance in advanced classical and archaeological studies. Regular courses of lectures and practical exercises, chiefly in the field or in the museums, are given by the resident American instructors and by distinguished foreign specialists. Liberal opportunities for study are afforded in the great museums and libraries. Archaeological excursions are arranged for and conducted. The Director of the School is Professor JESSE BENEDICT CARTER. The Professor of Latin for 1911-1912 is Professor GORDON J. LAING, of the University of Chicago.

Tuition is free to graduates of "coöperating colleges." One or more Fellowships in Classical Archaeology, each of $600, and usually one in Christian Archaeology, of $500, are awarded annually on competitive examination, which (for the Fellowships of 1912-1913) will be held on March 11-12, 1912. Two Research Fellowships also, each of $800, have been established by the Carnegie Institution, which will be awarded for the year 1912-1913.

For further information, address the Chairman of the Managing Committee,

Professor ANDREW F. WEST,
Princeton University, Princeton, N.J.

AMERICAN SCHOOL IN JERUSALEM

THE AMERICAN SCHOOL OF ORIENTAL RESEARCH IN JERUSALEM was founded in 1900, and is affiliated with the Archaeological Institute of America. It is supported by a number of American Universities and Theological Seminaries and by private subscriptions. The School offers to properly qualified persons excellent opportunities for the study of the geography, archaeology, and history of Syria, and of the Semitic languages. No charge for tuition is made to graduates of the supporting institutions; other students are required to pay a fee of $25 per annum. A Fellowship, with a stipend of $600, is awarded annually on examination. The Director of the School for 1911-1912 is Professor J. F. McCURDY, of the University of Toronto. The Chairman of the Committee on Fellowships is Professor CHARLES C. TORREY, Yale University, New Haven, Conn.

For further information, address the Chairman of the Managing Committee,

Professor CHARLES C. TORREY,
Yale University, New Haven, Conn.
